

Chidubem Ngene

I'm a Driven Web Developer well versed in team collaboration to formulate and conceptualize corporate web presence. I specialize in embracing challenging projects requiring detailed coding and coordinated collaborative efforts while employing search engine optimisation techniques. I integrate my knowledge of visual arts to develop functional, appealing, custom made web components and services with a versatile understanding of data functions and analytics. I pride myself in my ability to learn and work on new challenging tasks on the go, while pushing teammates to be better versions of themselves.
